Fled from His Bride

Residents of Stenhope, N. J., are discussing the action of William W. King, a young telegraph operator, who deserted his bride soon after he was married. In February last, King, who was engaged to Miss Sadie Jones, daughter of a prominent citizen of that place, disappeared when the time arrived for their marriage to take place. King was not heard of in Stenhope again until Tuesday of last week, when he returned. He told his friends that he had come back to marry Miss Jones. The latter, who was almost prostrated over her lover's disappearance, was overjoyed to hear of his return. On Thursday evening last King rang the front door bell of the Jones residence and he was cordially received by Miss Jones and her father. Young King told Mr. Jones he had come to marry Sadie. Papa Jones was glad to hear this and told King that it was better late than never. A messenger was sent for the Rev. W. I. Condit, of the Presbyterian church of Stenhope, and the minister arrived about nine o'clock. Preparations were speedily made for the wedding. The members of the family and a few friends had assembled in the parlor. Edward Jones, a brother of the bride, acted as best man, and Sadie's sister was her bridesmaid. The bride was attired in a brown satin dress and carried a bunch of pink roses. After the ceremony the wedding party enjoyed a supper, which had been prepared at the expense of Mr. Jones. When the wedding party broke up at about ten o'clock King surprised his bride and father by announcing his intention of going to his home and leaving his bride at father's house. He did not say when he was coming back to claim his bride, and the latter became hysterical and broke down and wept. Mrs. King walked anxiously the following day to see her husband, but he did not come. He did not again appear at the Jones residence, and on Wednesday night King disappeared from Stenhope. It is said that King has gone to California. It is reported that his bride is prostrated over his second disappearance. The King and Jones families are neighbors, and Mr. King, who is a reputable citizen, is much annoyed over his son's conduct.

HE WONT BURY JIM AGAIN.—Lemuel Briggs, of Hartford, Conn., has a 13-year-old house cat that is good and true and does not sing at midnight, but Lemuel became tired of him, and the other day thought he would put him where the woodbine twined. He dug a deep little grave in the garden, near the currant bushes, and then caught the cat. Being a tender hearted man he plotted an easy death for puss. He soaked a sponge in chloroform, tied it about the cat's nose, put him in an empty barrel, and set the barrel on its open end. In 15 minutes he tipped the barrel over, and the lay puss, with his claws peacefully folded across his breast, and wearing a life-like and resigned expression. Then he immured the cat in the sepulchre and tramped the earth down over him, went into the house and felt solemn and guilty for half an hour. At the end of that period he heard a lively osterwauling in the garden and glancing out of the kitchen window saw the buried cat wallowing a neighbor's pet in beautiful style. Having whipped the neighbor's cat Jim, the buried cat, gambolled to his master, rubbed his side against Lemuel's leg, and purred triumphantly. Lemuel was awe struck for a moment, then he took Jim in his arms fondly rubbed his whiskers against the cat's whiskers, and took him into the house. Nothing in the world would induce him to try to wrong Jim again.

MEDICINAL.

Take Simmons Liver Regulator One Dose WORTH 100 Dollars

Dear S. L. R.—Friends: I consider one dose of Simmons Liver Regulator worth $100. I was constipated, had headache, could eat nothing with satisfaction or appetite; had the blues and felt altogether out of sorts. I resorted to blue mass, calomel, quinine and all remedies suggested, but only obtained temporary relief. One dose of S. L. R. did me more good than the $100 worth of doctors and doctoring. Respectfully, T. C. MARRLEY

I have been a teacher for twenty years, and during that time have had repeated attacks of headache, produced by torpid liver, and I have been entirely cured by the use of Simmons Liver Regulator. I found it to be of so mild a character in its action as not to interfere, in the least, with my duties in the school room. To those similarly situated and subject to same, I cannot too highly recommend Simmons Liver Regulator. E. A. CREEK, Campbellsville, Ky.
